Emily Joachm: Adult Junior Race Coordinator

Who are you?

I am the new Juniors Regatta/Race coordinator. I moved to Milwaukee a year ago for my new job, and joined SSYC right away as we knew we wanted to keep sailing. I was previously living in Madison, where I learned to sail and quickly fell in love with it! I sailed everything from dinghies to the Tartan 10 race boats. I was one of the captains of the women's racing team, and we sailed a J-24. I also taught sailing in Madison and have chartered boats in Lake Superior and the Virgin Islands. Right now, we have an 18-foot Interlake (Splash), and a Beneteau First 36s7 (Te Fiti), and a Dragon Force remote control sailboat (Moana).

How to contact me: ejoachim2@gmail.com

Phena Fischer-Klumb: Junior Sail Race Officer & Publications Officer

Who are you?

I am the Publications and Sail Race officer for the SSYC juniors. I have been sailing in Milwaukee for as long as I can remember. I started sailing at SSYC on big boats with my mom not knowing what I was doing and just watching people scramble around the deck. Once I got older I decided to enroll in the Junior program and quickly fell in love with the sport. I now sail on many different boats, like 420, Lasers, T10's, Lightnings, and so many more.

During the Queen's Cup and in general, the SSYC Bar/Restaurant needs more service employees, due to the massive influx of customers. There are multiple positions open, both seasonal (summer) AND for this temporary event. If you or your child are of working age, could use the college money, or are just bored on the weekends, please email Kate Newton, General Manager, at kate.newton@ssyc.org for an application and other inquiries.

As always, the Junior Organization appreciates your volunteerism and understanding.

GROUNDS CLEANUP ROUNDUP

Grounds cleanup was a huge success! A huge thank you to all the volunteers who helped make the beginning of the season a success. We had roughly 40 Juniors (and parent) volunteers throughout the day to get ready for the sailing season. A big round of applause for everyone!

Q: What are your hobbies?

A: Aside from sailing, I like to ski in the winter. Last summer I was able to start camping more too which I really enjoyed.

Q: What do you do in the winter?

A: I ski in the winter, I didn't get out as much this year as past winters but enough to be content. Other than that I've just been doing school and some weekend boat projects.

Q: Who inspired you to start sailing?

A: There really wasn't an inspiration at the beginning. I am the only person in my family that sails. It happened randomly one summer when my mom decided to sign me up for sailing lessons. From there it just sort of spiraled to the point I am at now.

Q: How has the Juniors prepared you for your future outside of sailing and with sailing?

A: I have really learned a lot during my time with the Juniors. Outside of sailing I have learned a lot of skills in my time with the Juniors. During lessons I learned to persevere and keep going, I got knocked down ALOT when I first tried to race lasers but I kept working for it and eventually got it figured out. As an instructor one of the largest things I learned was how to explain things in a way that makes sense. When I first became an assistant instructor, breaking down tacking into the bite size pieces that beginner sailors need was something I struggled with. Lastly, I learned organization. I very quickly learned the chaos of getting groups of 10-20 racers to regattas. At the start it was definitely chaotic, by the last regatta of the season it was very smooth. The racers were independently packing their trailers in great time!

Q: What is your major and minor in school and what field are you planning on doing?

A: I am currently a Mechanical Engineering major. As for the field of engineering I'd like to be in, I am not really sure yet. Design engineering is something that is very interesting to me.

Q: Are you on a college sailing team, if so what is that like?

A: I am currently on the UW-Milwaukee sailing team, it is very fun and there is a lot of competitive racing between other collegiate teams in the Midwest. Due to COVID I have limited experience with the team though, as we were only active in the fall of last year.

Q: What are you doing now that you are no longer a Junior?

A: After this school year I will have been in college for two years at this point. In that time I have kept sailing both on the college sailing team for UWM as well as Sociable out of MYC. I also work in a research lab at Marquette University as a Research Assistant helping with a study on early childhood mobility issues.

Q: Will you continue to sail at SSYC or in the summer on a big boat?

A: For about the past 6 or 7 years I have raced on Sociable out of MYC, getting into the keelboat racing while still a Junior was huge for me and really helped me become a better racer as well as develop the love of sailing that many of us have. This summer I will be working for Oakcliff Sailing in Oyster Bay, NY. I will be able to do some racing on various boats out there, as well as learn a lot about sailing and boat maintenance. With Oakcliff, I will also be competing in my 5th Chicago Mac and 1st Bayview Mac race. While this opportunity is taking me away from SSYC and Milwaukee for the summer, I am excited to see what this new journey brings!

Q: What was the most important thing that you learned from the Junior program?

A: I would say the most important thing I learned as a Junior would be to keep pushing. Sailing is one of those things where you just will never know everything. There are milestones along the way, once you can keep a boat moving around the various points of sail and have good boat handling abilities you can start racing. Once you're racing, learning is really infinite, there are always things to learn. I also learned an appreciation for competition through the juniors, I really didn't play many sports growing up but once I started racing I really appreciated being competitive, it's a good thing.

Q: What advice would you give a newly starting Junior?

A: Stick with it, there are scary moments, boring moments and a lot of times where it is hard. It's worth it though. The first couple of years I was in sailing lessons, I really didn't like it but I kept coming back because of the friends I had made. The camaraderie is a huge part of sailing, through lessons at SSYC I have made some of my closest friends. Had I not kept coming back my life really would be different.

Q: What advice would you give to a sailor who is struggling in heavy wind?

A: Remember, you are the one controlling the boat. As with many things in sailing, it is intimidating until you do it. Once you have a couple of heavy wind days to learn how to really control the boat and get yourself de-powered enough while also going fast, heavy wind will really be some of your most fun days on the water. If you find yourself racing in heavy conditions, plan to make your maneuvers early. You don't want to find yourself 10 boat lengths away from a leeward mark because you couldn't pull the spinnaker down in time...
